Literacy and Reading

A new teacher embarking upon a teaching career, fresh out of college and already with substantial student loan debt, is faced with finding as much as $2,000 to set up his or her room with 1,500 classroom library “readers” and then be prepared to spend $800 or more each year thereafter to re-stock that library!

Unfortunately, it has also become commonplace that even our veteran elementary school teachers must spend that $800 each year as well.

Let's raise at least $30,000 to help re-stock classroom library books at Woodmoor, Woodin, and Kokanee elementary schools.

Continued Stewardship for Community Parks

In the spirit of public-private partnerships, Rotary has played a key role in the development of three Woodinville community parks!

Wilmot Gateway Park

Funded and installed playground equipment

Upon incorporation in the late 1990s, the City of Woodinville had limited resources when it began to search for a signature, multi-use park in the heart of the city. Rotary stepped up to lead the campaign to raise $1 million from private funding sources. Rotary helped make a profound statement about a quality community residents envisioned. Rotary contributed $127,000 to the Wilmot campaign and enticed its members, businesses and friends to add $700,000.

Little League Diamonds in 1987

Brand new Woodinville Rotary raised enough money its charter year of 1987 to partner with King County, enabling Northshore Little League to enter into a long-term lease and build sorely needed baseball diamonds in Woodinville.

Rotary pledged $90,000 over a three-year period and gave a promise of ongoing stewardship. The park features a skateboard facility, climbing rock, picnic shelter and playground. A board walk trail system, built by Rotarians, meanders through an 18-acre idyllic natural habitat setting.

Without Rotary's show of community support, the property likely would have been lost to development.

Rotary Community Park

Operation Warm coats at Rotary's annual Santa Breakfast in December

For the past 10 years, Woodinville Rotary has been providing brand new warm coats to less fortunate Northshore school children to provide warmth in the winter but also to provide a measure of self esteem which researchers have determined will lead to improved academic success.

Imagine standing outside in the morning cold waiting for the school bus without a good coat.

One of our members discovered Operation Warm back in the Philadelphia area and was determined that we, too, could provide brand new coats for our kids in need. At an auction fund-a-need, we raised $22,000 and put a warm coat on 2,200 children at the Rotary-sponsored Santa breakfast held in early December each year. Over the 10 years, Woodinville Rotary has distributed more than 7,000 Operation Warm coats.

Water Safety Education - Learn to Float

Woodinville Rotary introduced a new water safety education program to the Pacific Northwest in 2011. It is the storybook adventure of Josh the Baby Otter. Encouraged by a costumed Josh the Otter, kindergarten and first grade age children learn not to go near any form of water unless an adult is present. In song, Josh implores his new friends to learn to float and asks them to pledge they'll be safe around water. More than 700 kids took part this year.

Josh's Woodinville Rotary team presents the story of Josh visually and in song at group assemblies and provides each child a coloring book, a picture story book and DVD to take home to share with siblings and parents.

International Service

Mobil in Mexico: Working with other Rotary clubs in Mexico and in the Puget Sound area, Woodinville Rotarians partnered with PUSH International. More than 300 people with mobility issues in Mexico were personally fitted with devices to make life more tolerable. Woodinville Rotarians traveled to Puerto Villarta to be engaged in the distribution.

Health: Woodinville Rotarians have led multiple medical missions to provide on-site clinical treatment in remote areas of Peru and Pakistan.

Water: Woodinville Rotary financed a manufacturing plant in rural, isolated Kiminini, Kenya to annually produce 10,000 safe, water filters for the village. The club's investment was $25,000 and was inspired by students at University of Washington Bothell.

Scholarships and 'Camperships'

As an owner of the Northshore Scholarship Foundation, Woodinville Rotary has been a party to awarding 1,572 scholarships, providing $2,166,370 to graduates of our local schools. Directly and through the Foundation, Woodinville Rotary is financially helping the 22 scholarship recipients seen below with tuition costs for academic 2013-2014.

Woodinville Rotary alone has paid directly for 325 of the 1,572 grants --- presently featuring our renewable "Make a Difference" grants in the amount of $7,500 at a four-year college and $3,500 at a two-year technical or community college. The club invested $192,350 in six endowment-style accounts in the Northshore Foundation in memory of Woodinville Rotarians Jerry Wilmot and Marv Workman, for actor and honorary Rotarian Peg Phillips, math teacher Marv Cook at Woodinville High School, for sustainability education at 21 Acres and for the daughter of one of our charter members in support of summer camps.

The club has sponsored "camperships" for students of all ages to take part in summer programs sponsored by the local YMCA, 21 Acres, the Boy Scouts, and to attend Friends of the Hidden River Environmental Education and a Campfire bereavement camp.

Fund-a-Need for "It's a W.R.A.P."

We will raise our bid cards to ask everyone to help ease the burden placed upon our elementary school teachers who must use their own money each year to re-stock their essential classroom libraries of "Just Right Reading Books."

The Just Right Reading project means having reading books that are grade and skill-level appropriate.

These are the primary keys to our children attaining adequate reading and comprehension ability by the time they are ready to advance past the sixth grade.
